Jeff Foster
Executive Vice President
Retail Decisions, Inc.

Jeff Foster is Executive Vice President of Retail Decisions, Inc. (ReD USA), a wholly owned subsidiary of Retail Decisions plc. Retail Decisions (LSE: RTD) is an international electronic payment transaction services business that provides fraud prevention, enterprise-wide payment processing and value-added transaction consulting services to the finance, telecommunications, retail, travel and e-commerce sectors. Mr. Foster is responsible for sales, marketing and public relations for North America.

Prior to joining ReD USA, Mr. Foster co-founded Paymentplus, Inc., a payment technology company. In February of 2002, he sold the company to Retail Decisions. He began his tenure at ReD USA as Vice President of Sales and Marketing, Payments, and held that position for approximately 4 months before being promoted to Vice President of Sales, North America in June of 2002. In January of 2003, he was named Executive Vice President of Retail Decisions Inc., the North American Division of the company.

Mr. Foster has appeared as an expert in payment transaction solutions on Bloomberg Television and has been quoted in the Washington Post, Financial Times, Business Week, The Wall Street Journal as well as multiple trade publications, including Credit Card Management and Internet Retailer. He also speaks regularly at conferences and events.
