

Vladko Iordanov
Managing Director, Issuer Services

As Managing Director, Issuer Services, Vladko Iordanov is responsible for maintaining and growing the UATP business in the region. The specific areas he is managing include operations, project management for customer implementations, sales and marketing, customer service, brand promotion and support, new member recruitment. In the airline industry since 1993, Iordanov has held various positions at American Airlines including Financial Analyst, Project Manager in Revenue Accounting and Manager for Outsourced Contracts in Finance. He received both an undergraduate degree in International Business and MBA from the Institute for International Relations in Moscow, Russian Federation.