

James Marshall

Vice President, Transport Partner Services

Expedia

James Marshall serves as Vice President, Transport Partner Services for the Expedia group, which operates more than 200 travel booking sites in more than 75 countries.

James leads airline partner relationships throughout the Asia Pacific region and supports the marketing and distribution of flights and holiday packages globally on a wide portfolio of Expedia's online travel brands, which include Expedia, Hotels.com, Hotwire, Travelocity, Orbitz, ebookers, Wotif and Egencia. He also leads the Expedia group's global connectivity team, with responsibility for Expedia's global distribution system (GDS) relationships along with other connectivity partners.

James joined Expedia in 2010 after ten years in a variety of roles with Amadeus, where he served most recently as regional director of airline distribution sales in Asia Pacific.

James holds an MBA from INSEAD. He also graduated from ESCP Europe where he earned a master's degree in international management. James maintains triple citizenship from Spain, France and the UK and has lived in Asia for over 20 years. He currently resides in Singapore with his wife and two daughters.

