

Rafael Schwartzman

Regional Vice President Europe
International Air Transport Association (IATA)

Rafael Schwartzman is the Regional Vice President for Europe within IATA. He leads the activities in his region, the largest in the group, in building strategic relationships with aviation stakeholders, in advocating for the industry on behalf of IATA's members, in implementing new products and services, and in presiding over the secure transfer of more than $70 billion in the Billing and Settlement Plan and Cargo Accounts Settlement Systems.

Rafael built his career at DHL in the Americas for 10 years and also worked for different air transport companies in South America.

He graduated from the University of the Pacific in Economics and also holds a Master's Degree in Positive Leadership and Strategy in collaboration with IE Business School.