

Alex Mifsud

Chief Strategy Officer

Ixaris

With Alex as its founder, Ixaris launched Europe's first virtual cards in 2003. Previously, Alex was a senior consultant in the Cambridge-based tech practice of Arthur D. Little, specialising in technology and innovation for blue chip clients. Alex also acted as head of the Computer Science and Artificial Intelligence department at the University of Malta, and holds MSc and PhD degrees in computer science from the University of Edinburgh. Alex is currently Ixaris' Chief Strategy Officer and a Director at the London Blockchain Foundation.