

Amine Boulaghmen

Head of IATA Settlement Services Product Portfolio

IATA

Amine is Head of the IATA Settlement Services Product Portfolio, responsible for management and development of innovative products that help airlines simplify and optimize their Distribution and Payment processes.

In the last 20 years, Amine has been actively involved in the areas of airline distribution and payment. He is currently leading the development of a new innovative solution, IATA Financial Gateway (IFG), a global payment platform that help airlines optimize their payment processes by accepting a diverse range of payment methods while managing the risks associated.

Amine has professional experience in both IT and the Airline industry. Prior to joining IATA, he was Director and Assistant to the CEO of Air Algerie where he was responsible for the airline's Business and IT strategies.

