

Richard Maslen

Head of Analysis

CAPA – Centre for Aviation

Richard Maslen has travelled across the globe to report on developments in the aviation sector as airlines and airports have continued to evolve and adapt to changing market conditions. Initially managing the weekly newsletter for respected aviation insurance loss adjuster Airclaims Limited, he later joined aviation media company Key Publishing where he spent almost nine years interviewing many of the industry's senior players. In 2011, he joined air service development specialist Routes (latterly part of UBM) where he developed a complete digital editorial content strategy for the business and has become well respected by the aviation community for his knowledge and insight. In 2017, he left to establish his own business, Maslen Aviation Consultancy, working for (among others) CAPA – Centre for Aviation, whom he joined permanently as Head of Analysis in 2022. CAPA is part of Aviation Week Network, the leading provider of independent aviation market intelligence, analysis and data services covering worldwide developments. CAPA's platforms help the aviation sector and supplier businesses stay informed, remain connected to industry leaders and fuel inspiration to drive change.
