Bert Craven

President Technology & Deputy CEO

T2RL

Bert has 30 years of experience in information technology in a variety of sectors including insurance, banking, education, software development, property sales and management. He has spent the last 14 years in the airline industry as Chief Architect and Head of Strategy & Architecture at easyJet and now leads T2RL's technology consulting and procurement practice.

Bert's role focuses on business and IT strategy, architecture and sourcing engagements with T2RL's clients. These include business design, enterprise architecture, target operating models, organisational design and strategic sourcing. Additionally, Bert has experience of IT and Digital Transformation programmes as well as both buy- and sell-side M&A activities.

Bert is based in the UK and travels extensively supporting T2RL's clients. Since 2015 Bert has been involved in over 50 airline customer engagements involving 30 carriers.
